AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING

Thankful for Ticket

ARTHUR D. KIMBER, of Grand Rapids, Mich., tells me a story that is, as he says, applicable to practically anyone driving car with the best of intentions to obey the law.

He was driving home to lunch one day and says he had no idea that his car had picked up the speed it obviously had picked up. He glanced into his mirror and saw a late model Ford in the rear that was rapidly gaining on him, and, he felt, with purpose and intent. He slowed down, but it was too late. The siren was sounding and in a flick of the cyclesh a police car was beside him. There was just one thing to do: "pull over to the side of the road." The officer parked his squad car and came over. Mr. Kimber says he has always almed at being a conscientious driver, and that he respects those officers for D. Carnegie he knows full well that if it were not for their alertness no one could drive without risking his own neck. He wanted to say this to the officer, but who wouldn't look for just such an "out?" And what officer would regard it?

So he let the officer "read him down," which he did in an unusually gentle manner. He pointed out how traveling at such a rate of speed could easily mean crashing another vehicle, hitting a tree, or running into some children playing on the aldewalk.

Mr. Klimber said nothing until the officer had finlahed, paying respect by his manner, then he replied, Officer, you are entirely right. I could have caused a had accident, and I honestly want to thank you for stopping me before something terrible happened.

How did that officer react? Well, there was no doubt that he believed in the sincerity of Mr Kimber's remarks. He reached for his pad, however, but instead of writing down the usual fine in such cases, $25, he wrote $10.

INFE STUDIED how the church was sounded and empowered en Pentecost. Today we think of the kind of life there was in the church after Pelecost. The first thing we consider is the fellowship among the disciples. They formed | "Huckster for Christ" will be the a new kind of community and had subject of the Pastor's sermon, Sun-"all things in common." Some have called their manner of life communism. Though It was a sharing of possessions, It was quite different from the communism of which we bear se much today, It was not a sharing of goods by force, but II was voluntary, And II was not athelatic but God-centered. Its goal was not an all-powerful. God-less state, but the church of God.

And it schieved a church such as has not been seen in the world since. There were neither rich nor poor among the members for they had all things common. They were of "one heart and soul," "They it." There were no divisions among them They gave themselves constantly to prayer. And they contisued to worship in the temple, to him" (Lake 20:37, 38). ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual-National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare Many Americans must still wonder if the Soviet Union actually calls the tune within the satellite states or if these states, as the Kremlin claims, are actually independent "people's democracles." They must wonder too just how Communism manages to overrun a state Czechoslovakla, for example which had always had a high degree of individual freedom. The October Issue of Foreign Affalra earried a revealing answer to these questions. It was written by Jozael Reval, whom the magazin terms "the leading theorist of DELICIOUS SNACK, warming A and delicious after your next out-of-doors jaunt, is a sandwich made of toasted, split English mutfins, topped with a slice of ham, then capped with Welsh Rarebit.

Do something different with your baked apples, like this: mix together raisins and chopped almonds and stuff the cored apples Pour a simple syrup of one cup water and one cup sugar over the apples and baste once in a while as they bake. Serve warm with whipped cream.

Canned cling peaches make an excellent cobbler. Place them in a buttered casserole and sprinkle with 1/4 cup brown sugar mixed with 14 tablespoons cornstarch. Top with rich biscult dough and bake in a hot oven until biscuit top is browned.

A colorful beverage for the season combines equal parts of cran-

Reanut butter thinned with a small amount of honey makes a nice tasty coating for ham that's to be baked. Have you ever tried breaking apart hot muffins and using them in place of toast for creamed chicken, tuna, ham a la king or eggs? They're delicious! Give your custards a lift by placing a teaspoonful of butterscotch syrup at the bottom of the individual cups before pouring egg-milk mixture. Chill custards before serving, then invert on Swain, at Bethel, dessert plates.

Canned fruits are items that may be purchased at all prices because there are many qualities. We could sell you a No. 212 can of peaches for as little as 23c but we do not care to handle this particular grade. Our profit on this can of peaches would be as great as the profit on a can of our delicious Red & White fancy praches at a cost to you of 30c. By selling you this high grade can of peaches, we have made a fair profit and have placed on your table a fine tasty product that you will enjoy and want more of. And best of all the cost to you is only 7c more.

It pays to buy quality.
